

CROWD HEARS
GOV. M'KELDIN
IN EMMITSBURG

A pair of fractious "Democratic" mules pulling the queen's brougham gave Republican Governor Theodore R. McKeldin a bad moment as they bucked and reared before carrying the Maryland governor and Queen Nancy Valentine off stage at Saturday's session of the Emmitsburg bicentennial pageant.

Governor McKeldin participated in the pageant first as honorary judge of the beard shaving contest which was won by Don Harner who managed to shave off his whiskers in 3 minutes, 45 seconds. He was followed by Arthur Elder, John Hollinger, Tom Gingell, Jack Humerick and Lawrence Sprankle. Electric shavers were awarded the three first places.

During the pageant prologue Governor McKeldin offered a finely wrought crown to Miss Valentine and an autographed portrait of himself offering a ceramic of the present English Queen Elizabeth riding a horse to Queen Mother Mary.

Gets Key To Town

McKeldin who was introduced to the crowd by Burgess Clarence Frailey was also given a large key to the town. In his remarks McKeldin saluted the Queen and her court and the historic story-telling of the pageant. Looking to the future the governor remarked: "No wise man can doubt that this nation at present is engaged in a gigantic struggle for survival. It is not a military struggle, although it may come to that. It is a struggle for the minds and hearts of men, an effort to convince men who have never enjoyed it that liberty is more precious than anything else in life, more precious, indeed, than life itself."

"This brings the business straight home to every community in America. If the ideal of liberty fails here, it has no chance at all anywhere else. If we can't make it work, nobody can; and it would be nonsense to recommend to other people a system that we can't make work at home."

HOTTEST JUNE
IN 14 YEARS CUTS
RAIN SHORTAGE

The hottest month on June here in 14 years went into the local weather records Sunday but the slight surplus of rain received here last month left the year nearly 20 per cent short of normal for the first six months.

With temperatures in the 90's recorded here one day in every three last month, the average daily high reading was 84.1 degrees with a maximum of 98 reached on June 15 and 16. The mercury dropped as low as 50 degrees the morning of June 9 but the average daily low reading was 63.26 degrees. The average daily temperature for the 30-day period was 73.68 degrees which is 3.28 degrees above normal for June.

Measureable amounts of rain fell on 11 weather days and totaled 4.16 inches which is four-tenths of an inch above normal for June. That slim surplus, following a month of May that had only a third of normal rain, left 1957 3.72 inches below normal. The accumulated total for the first six months in Gettysburg is 16.67 inches.

Thunderstorms, damaging winds and fog were other weather highlights noted in June. The heaviest rain of the month came last Friday evening and early Saturday morning, accompanied by high winds that tossed trees and branches across power and telephone lines interrupting service to several thousand homes.

Arendtsville Figures

The Arendtsville weather station reported that while the sun shone there on 26 of the 30 days last month, the community received only 50.46 per cent of the "available" sunshine if it had been a cloudless month. Sunshine totaled only 226 hours and 35 minutes.

The average temperature there was 72.03 degrees which is two degrees above normal. The average daily high was 83.2 degrees and the average low was 60.8 degrees. The temperatures ranged from 96 on the 18th to a low of 32 degrees on the 8th and 9th. There were nine days of 90-degree weather there.

Rainfall totaled 4.52 inches but the six-month total to 18.43 inches which is 2.94 below normal.

Pestilence Threatens Area
Lashed By Hurricane; Mass
Burial Today For 350 Dead

By ARTHUR EVERETT
LAKE CHARLES, La., (P)—Louisiana today prepared mass burial for the nameless among its estimated 350 hurricane victims.

Thousands of survivors of Thursday's great storm still clogged makeshift refugee centers here and in nearby towns. From Washington came a Red Cross estimate of 47,000 still homeless in southwestern Louisiana and southeastern Texas.

The latest estimate of the death toll came yesterday from Larry Stephenson, local director of civil defense. He based it on a widely accepted premise that uncounted dead still were screened from searchers by storm debris and the slowly receding tidal waters of the now serene Gulf of Mexico.

Bodies Removed

About 240 bodies have been recovered and searchers report almost constantly that more have been spotted.

Gov. Earl Long inspected the disaster area yesterday and predicted: "The actual count of dead is missing will go way over 400." He wouldn't guess how long it

IKE'S GOLFING
NEVER BETTER,
SLEICHTER SAYS

President Eisenhower, celebrating his 41st wedding anniversary today, walloped a golf ball straight and far off the 10th tee. Then he smiled broadly and remarked: "I like that baby."

And his partner, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, chimed in: "Mr. President, you never hit a better ball in your life."

The drive traveled about 250 yards down the middle of the 10th fairway and it reflected Eisenhower's top form off the tees today at the Gettysburg Country Club.

In Top Form

The President had another excellent drive at the start of his 18-hole round. It was good for close to 250 yards and the club pro, Dick Sleichter, called it at that point "the best drive I've seen him hit out here."

In addition to Heaton, commanding general at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, Eisenhower played with retired Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins of Gettysburg.

Heaton and his wife are house guests of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower at their farm home. The Heaton observed their 31st wedding anniversary there Sunday. They were here last year too for the anniversary.

Women Visit

Today the men left the women at the farm to visit while they toured the golf course. It was a brisk, cool day although the sun was bright.

As usual, newsmen were not permitted to follow the President around the course. There was no word on the 18-hole scores, but Eisenhower did finish the round with a par four.

Eisenhower and Heaton motored to the club from the President's country home a few minutes after 9 a.m.

Text Of Address Sunday By
General Maxwell D. Taylor

The text of the address delivered by General Maxwell D. Taylor, chief of staff of the United States Army, Sunday evening at the Gettysburg High School auditorium at the opening of the celebration of the 94th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg follows.

His theme was "Achieving a Securer Peace."

"I am deeply honored to be here on the occasion of the 94th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. The most casual visitor cannot come to this historic spot without a feeling of deep emotion as he reflects upon the events which have occurred in and about this Pennsylvania town. He sees in his mind's eye the lines of battle surging backward and forward for three days across these green fields in a struggle in which the stake was our existence as a nation. The names of the hills and valleys—Seminary Ridge, Cemetery Ridge, The Round Tops, Culp's Hill—all have been on our lips since childhood. As we walk among them today, we sense the contrast between the serene setting now and the pictured carnage of the bloody conflict that was fought here almost a century ago. There are indeed few episodes in our military history which are so indelibly inscribed in the hearts and minds of the American people as the drama of the Battle of Gettysburg.

"Yet this is a singularly difficult occasion to commemorate in words. Since the original Gettysburg Address by the Martyr President there has been little of significance left for succeeding orators to say on the anniversary of the great battle. I imagine that my present feeling of inadequacy this evening has been shared by all of my predecessors on this platform.

Quotes Citizen-Soldier
"It is true that the speaker has available a vast accumulation of historical writings on the subject of the Battle of Gettysburg. He has

Auditorium Filled
President Eisenhower, who observed, "Isn't this something?" when he first saw the huge new auditorium of Gettysburg High School, had an opportunity to use the same expression again during the concert presented by the U. S. Army Band following the talk by General Taylor. The comment came during a rendition of Monti-Croy's "Czardas" by Keig Garvin, trombone soloist for the band.

The auditorium was filled when President and Mrs. Eisenhower, their house guests, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Leonard Heaton and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Arthur S. Nevins, arrived at 7 o'clock. They sat in special seats directly in front of the stage.

GAS CONSUMERS
GETTING REFUND
ON PAID BILLS

Manufacturers Light and Heat Company has started a $620,000 refund to some 247,000 Pennsylvania gas consumers, J. N. Estep, company manager here reports.

The company is crediting the refund to the accounts of present customers and mailing checks to former customers.

The refund will close the books on gas adjustments which go back to September 1, 1954. The company has just completed a $400,000 refund on sales in the 15-month period following that date. Present refunds cover gas bills paid in the 16-month period from January 20, 1956, through May 20 of this year.

High Court Decision

The present refund results from a December, 1954, request for a $4.398,000 rate increase. The Public Utility Commission authorized $3,000,000 of this in January, 1956. This allowed the company a 6.5% rate of return on its Pennsylvania operations.

The state Superior Court, on an appeal, cut the company's rate of return to 6.3%. This reduced the company's rates as of May 20, cut its annual revenues by some $360,500 a year and set up the current refund.

Breaks Wrist In Fall From Monument

Mrs. Jesse White, 59, St. Albans, W. Va., was treated at the Warner Hospital Sunday for a fracture of her left wrist and a laceration of the right eyebrow sustained when she fell from a monument at Little Round Top.

Christopher Redding, 3 1/2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Redding, 58 E. Stevens St., was treated Sunday for a laceration of the chin received while riding a bike.

Larry Burns, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burns, Littlestown R. 1, received treatment for a laceration of the left ankle.

Sharon Duttera, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duttera, R. 4, was treated for a laceration of her right knee sustained when she fell while playing.

Return To Farm

At 8 o'clock the entire band rose and bowed to the President as the presidential party prepared to leave for the Eisenhower farm home where a dinner was held celebrating the wedding anniversary of General and Mrs. Heaton. The Eisenhowers and Heaton, whose wedding anniversaries are a day apart, began the custom of jointly observing their anniversaries at the farm last year.

Many in the audience hurried to doors to watch the departure of the President and then returned to the auditorium for the remainder of the concert by the Army band.

The band finally had to ignore applause and leave the auditorium, or, judging by the applause of the audience as it sought encores, the program would have continued for another hour or two.

Soloist Pleases

Particularly popular was Walter Skees, soloist for the band, who sang "With a Song in My Heart," "Old Black Magic" and as an encore, which wound up with the audience giving him what amounted to an ovation, "Old Man River."

Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, gave the invocation after which the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." The benediction was given by Rev. Robert Knecht, pastor of the Church of the Brethren.

With the group were correspondents and photographers from the major press services, TV and radio networks and leading newspapers and newsmagazines and the Secret Service.

Greeted By Burgess

Burgess William G. Weaver met the Presidential party as it halted outside the north door of the auditorium and escorted the President into the auditorium as the combined honor guards of the Gettysburg VFW and American Legion under command of former M/Sgt. Raymond Strohm came to attention and the U. S. Army band played "Hail to the Chief." The color guards, lined in front of the stage, marched off after the Presidential party was seated.

The pageantry of the entry was the last strictly formal note.

Maj. Gen. John M. Welkert introduced the speaker, General Taylor, as being "from Missouri, breeder of Democrats" and brought a laugh from the President and audience. Burgess William G. Weaver, as master of ceremonies, noted that President and Mrs. Eisenhower were observing their 41st wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower stood and bowed and waved as the crowd applauded its congratulations.

The Presidential foot was noticed tapping to the strains of the music at a number of times and Mrs. Eisenhower gave the President a special smile during the playing of "End of a Perfect Day." She also seemed to enjoy most the music from "My Fair Lady," while the President seemed to enjoy the marches specially.

TV cameramen swarmed about the auditorium and at one point had the lights in the house increased so they could take pictures of the audience. One of the films is to be shown on Channel 8 at 6:55 this evening.

Firemen in uniform guarded doors aided by Secret Service men during the period the Presidential party was present.

Program Presented

The program presented by the Army Band under direction of Major Hugh Curry included "United States Army March Medley" arranged by Raymond Kirby; "American Overture For Band;" Joseph Wilcox Jenkins, one of the members of the band; "Irish Tune from County Derry;" Percy Grainger; "Czardas" by Monti-Croy, and "Car-

Go To Court On License Suspension

Kenneth E. Baker, Fayetteville R. 2, has appealed to the Adams County Court on the suspension of his driver's license ordered by the state.

Baker argues that he needs a car to drive the seven miles from his home to his work in a State Department of Forests and Waters nursery, that the court dismissed a charge of reckless driving against him brought as a result of the accident which caused him to lose his license in the first place, and that he has insurance covering accidents to his car. "TIME FOR FUN"

Once again it's time for resting... time to leave all care behind... and to go in search of pleasure... that today is hard to find... I can hear the wild waves calling... I can see the mountains too... sandy beaches, fields of clover... kissed with blissful morning dew... in my heart there is a longing... to invade another place... where the days are free of worry... and aglow with love's embrace... so I make my plans to venture... out upon a sweet sojourn... to partake of peaceful blessings... and the things for which I yearn... once a year our little family... gives the old routine a twist... and with gay anticipation... checks the old vacation list... then we leave our little homestead... with light heart and heavy pack... but when all the fun is over... we are glad to hurry back.

Clendenin, W. Va.; Arthur Garvin, Taneytown; Larry Ohler, Taneytown, a cousin of the bride; and Fred Miller, Littlestown, a cousin of the bride.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

An overland mail to California has been established by the government. The contract has been given to six individuals of New York, and one of Illinois, at the price of $395,000 for semi-weekly service. They are to run mail coaches twice a week over the route which is 2,000 miles in extent, in twenty-five days, a great portion of it consisting of desert, sandy, arid wastes. The National Intelligence seems to think it "very like an impossibility."

The Largest Man In The World:

The West Tennessee Whig announces the death of Mr. Miles Darden, near Lexington, in State, and says: "The deceased was, beyond all question, the largest man in the world. His height was seven feet, six inches — two inches higher than Porter, the celebrated Kentucky Giant. His weight was a fraction over one thousand pounds. It required seventeen men to put him in his coffin, and it took over one hundred feet of plank to make his coffin. He measured around the waist six feet and four inches."

Counterfeit $5 notes on the Philadelphia Bank and $10s on the Farmers Bank at Richmond, Va., are in circulation. The latter are very like to deceive — but the former have not the pink tint of the genuine notes.

Reaping and Mowing Machine: A large number of farmers and others were in attendance on Tuesday last, at a trial of Manny's Reaping and Mowing Machine in several fields in the limits of the borough. It operated so much to the satisfaction of those present, that Mr. Herbst, the agent for their sale, has disposed of a number of them. It is certainly a great labor saving device and worth the attention of farmers.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Local Items: Some of our farmers have begun to cut grain.

Joseph H. Kline has been appointed postmaster at Idaville.

Michael Beamer has sold his farm of 44 acres in Menallen township to Philip Sillix for $1500.

Daniel Shultz, Reading township, fell about twenty feet from a cherry tree and fractured his left arm near the wrist.

John Altland, near East Berlin, has caught a black bass at Diehl's dam on the Conowago, weighing 4½ pounds.

The Sioux Fishing Club of this place have decided to go to Cambridge, Md. July 21 to remain ten days.

Mrs. Granville Stultz, Highland township, has a "cup cactus" with 136 flowers in full bloom.

The supply of water at the Gettysburg Packing company not being sufficient an artesian well is being dug there.

The Cornet Band of McKnightstown announced a Picnic in the grove adjoining that place on Saturday, August 4th.

Mrs. Alice M. Seabrook, Liberty township, sends us some beautiful buds from a Magnolia Rose. It is now in its second bloom and contains 415 blossoms and buds.

The annual commencement of the Harrisburg High Schools, June 30, was largely attended, numerous and costly gifts being presented to the graduates. Prof. J. Howard Wert, Principal of the Boys High School, formerly of this place, was the recipient from the class of a magnificent album containing fine imperial size photographs of the members of the class.

Littlestown was visited by a severe blow on Wednesday evening. The Era says: "Rain fell in torrents, accompanied by heavy winds, which had the effect of demolishing one of the chimneys and gable walls of the new Reformed parsonage; tearing down the fence around the Lutheran church; blowing down two trees for Dr. Gettler, one for Mrs. Sell, one for Col. Eph Myers and one for Dr. Foreman and quite a number for citizens on Gettysburg street. Quite a number of fences were blown over. A wood shed in the Central Hotel yard was also demolished. The storm lasted about

Today's Talk

ON BEING YOURSELF

What interests us most in others are their interests. Interests that we may know little or nothing about. It's these interests that give a personality to us all. We are wise to listen to other people who have seen what we have not, and read what we should read.

None of us needs to imitate. By being true to yourself, and constantly searching for knowledge, you can't help but grow and become continually enriched. We never need to part from a friend who is genuine. By being yourself you stamp yourself as worthy. It's a joy to have those about us from whom we can learn. We are inspired just to listen to such a one.

Be yourself, and be proud to be so. Each of us has qualities within us that no one else has! We ought to think of this often so as not to become self-centered and selfish. There is leadership in self-confidence. There are all too few inspired leaders in the world. Dare to be unique!

In a democracy is there the greatest growth and individual enterprise and happiness, for it is there that the most people rule and demand leadership from those selected by themselves. Where people are free they have incentive and ambition. They grow proud to live and let live. Their taste of a free life is always good.

By being yourself you keep developing new qualities of mind and heart. You are a "somebody" in your own right. You invite respect. You feel an inward power. You keep creating "that something" that is so valuable to a salesman. Stevenson said: "To know what you prefer, instead of humbly saying Amen to what the world tells you ought to prefer, is to have kept your soul alive!"

fifteen minutes.

Water Supply: The Gettysburg water company are much encouraged by the outlook for a good supply of water on Cemetery Hill.

After boring to a depth of 100 feet the steam-pump was put to work for ten hours during which a steady stream of good, soft water was thrown out at the rate of from 30 to 35 gallons per minute without affecting the well.

New Oxford Items: The army worm of intemperance, recklessness and dissipation is still marching shamelessly forward. Places for drinking, debauchery and Sabbath breaking are multiplying and the youth of both city and country are being ruined and poisoned wholesale.

There is a scarcity of harvest hands in this as well as in other sections of the county. The farmers have experienced difficulty in securing sufficient help. Some are obliged to do the work themselves consequently were compelled to purchase self-binders. Last year there were none, and now there are six in operation in Adams county, all within six miles of this place.

also the contributions of the scholars and poets who have endeavored to interpret its significance. In reviewing some of the pertinent documents I found the inspiration for my brief remarks in the words written by a citizen-soldier, who fought and was at Gettysburg, in a letter to his brother shortly after the battle. Several days after his conclusion this soldier Frank Haskell, a member of General John Gibbon's Second Division, despite his wounds, revisited the field, not to rejoice, but to reflect upon its significance. His words I quote:

"Another spring shall green these trampled slopes, and flowers planted by unseen hands shall bloom upon these graves; another autumn and the yellow harvest shall ripen there — all not in less but in higher perfection for this poured-out blood. In another decade of years, in another century or age, we hope that the Union, by the same means, may repose in a securer peace and bloom in a higher civilization."

"Haskell did not live to see the bloom of the restored Union or to enjoy the securer peace. Less than a year after Gettysburg, he was dead — killed on the battlefield at Cold Harbor. But his words live on and bring us fresh inspiration with the years."

"Balanced Deterrence"

"My theme today is a short discussion of the present-day significance of this soldier's desire for a securer peace. This hope burns as warmly in our hearts today as it did in that veteran of the Battle of Gettysburg. Peace and security are still, and always will be, our primary national objectives, but we are seeking them under conditions which are unique in our history."

"We have always sought to live happily at peace with our neighbors. Following the Civil War this objective was not difficult to attain, protected as we were by oceans broad enough to separate us from foreign foes and to assure the unhampered development of of the Free World and to our last, piecemeal, of that which we are pledged to defend. If resisted, it must be resisted promptly and successfully, otherwise it may spread to that general atomic war which it is our purpose to avoid. The deterrence of general war, I consider the mission of deterring, or winning quickly, any local aggression as an indispensable part of our security.

"Sober Reminders"

"Let us take time to give thought to the inherent dangers of situations short of general war, for it is concern for this so-called 'one alarm fire' that rests heavily on the minds of many thinking people. Following World War II, we understandably bestirred ourselves to prepare against the possibility of nuclear World War III with all of its dreadful implications. In doing so, we created a great atomic retaliatory force as a means of deterring an atomic attack on the continental United States. Apparently it has been ample for this purpose."

"However, our predominant strength in this field was not ample to prevent limited Communist aggressions in such places as Korea, Greece, Viet-Nam, and Malaya. Since World War II, there have been 14 small wars, in 8 of which the Communists have been involved. These Communist thrusts around the periphery of the Free World serve as sober reminders of the possibility of small war situations occurring under the umbrella of mutual deterrence in the massive atomic field and the continual need for adequate means of dealing quickly with such limited situations."

Forces Required

"A securer peace, then, must repose on the possession of military forces capable of deterring general or limited war, and of defeating promptly any limited aggression since it may lead to the disastrous big war. But the maintenance of peace is not solely a matter of military forces. The deterrence of war requires the efforts of every American, each contributing according to his station. We need not solely military strength but an integration of all our national assets — military, economic, political, and ideological — to provide an adequate response to the Communist threat to world peace."

"Now let me distinguish between the military and the non-military contributions to the creation of the necessary deterrent strength. Insofar as the military is concerned, deterrence is manifest by the visible strength of the Army, Navy, and the Air Force. Such strength is and must be real. It cannot be a bluff, a blue print, or a sham. Instead, it must be manifest in the form of combat forces so organized as to present tangible evidence of our strength."

Must Prevent Atomic War

"The primary purpose of all present activities bearing upon national security is to prevent general atomic war. It is an inescapable fact that such a megaton conflict would bring irreparable disaster to all participants. From it no true victor could emerge. Hence, all of our efforts are directed toward the prevention of this disaster. It must never be allowed to occur."

"Because of the suicidal nature of a general nuclear war, it appears, in my opinion, increasingly unlikely that any nation will deliberately embark on such a war with its prospect of reciprocal annihilation. However, that does not necessarily mean that communism will renounce aggression as a tool of policy. Instead, while avoiding general war, it may incline toward local or limited aggression which thus appears to be an increasingly serious threat to world peace."

"This form of aggression, if not arrested, may lead to the erosion and so deployed as to constitute obstacles to aggression. For example, the United States must have sufficient long-range aircraft to convince a potential aggressor that if he launches a surprise attack, we can retaliate, striking him with devastating counterblows."

"Concurrently, the ability to strike hard and decisively against the sources of enemy strength must be complemented by an adequate continental air defense system to discourage the enemy from believing that by a surprise air attack he can destroy our homeland. Also, abroad in areas of strategic importance, such as in Europe and Korea, we must have Army forces to serve as a reminder that any aggression in these vital areas will be met at once by the soldiers of the United States. We must have additional divisions, in being here at home, so that we can move quickly to any threatened part of the world which we are committed to protect. Furthermore, the deterrent effect of our own combat forces must be extended by that of indigenous forces of the Free World. Together, these local forces and our own should fit into a coherent pattern of strength, designed to discourage Communist subversion, infiltration, or local aggression."

Not Complete Answer

"These indispensable military contributions to deterrence, important as they are, are far from being a complete answer to a securer peace. Clemenceau, the great Premier of France in World War I, is credited with saying that 'War is too serious a business to be left to the soldiers.' I, for one, am in complete agreement with Premier, but I would extend his remarks saying that under present world conditions the maintenance of peace is far too serious a business to be left only to the soldiers. It must be a co-operative civil-military effort. Military strength loses its deterrent effect if it is not guided by the strong hands of enlightened civilian leaders, statesmen capable of distinguishing between international right and wrong, and having the will to support the right."

"Our deterrent strength will be valueless if friend and foe alike are not firmly convinced that we have the determination to use it, wherever necessary, to defend the principles for which we stand. Thus it is imperative that we have real convictions on important issues and the clear intention to support those convictions. The soldiers at Gettysburg had no doubt as to what they were fighting for. Like them, we cannot be fence-sitters with respect to world issues if we are to impress others with our firmness of purpose. Thus, a general understanding of the policies of our government and a conviction as to their rightness are an indispensable part of our civic duty. There must be no doubt in our minds as to what we stand for, what we live for, and what we will fight for."

History's Responsibilities

"As we grow in understanding of our national problems, it is quite likely that we will become more willing to bear the burdens arising from our military requirements. The burden of national security is not presently light nor will it be materially lightened by any wonder weapon or device of which I know. We are, facing a long period wherein our deterrent posture must be maintained, even if at the cost of great effort. We have assumed responsibilities in world leadership which we cannot put down."

"In the terms of the athletic field, we must be in training throughout the entire year — not for a season, but this year, next year, and henceforth for the indefinite future. The maintenance of national security is not a seasonal endeavor. With the same steadfastness as the men who fought at Gettysburg, we must bear the responsibilities that history thrusts upon the Union which they fought to save. In so doing, we will assure that this nation will survive all trials and in the end will repose in a securer peace and bloom in a higher civilization."

Yankees In Lead But Boston Red Sox Are New Threat In AL As They Sweep Tiger Series

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The New York Yankees were back in first place today but a new threat has risen in the American League pennant race in the person of the Boston Red Sox.

Winners of 11 of their last 13 games, the Red Sox have pushed their way into a virtual third-place tie with Cleveland, only seven games off the pace. Paced by the three-man wrecking crew of Ted Williams, Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone, the Red Sox flattened Detroit 10-3 yesterday for a sweep of their three-game set over the Tigers, who have lost 10 of their last 13.

Williams rapped a double and single in addition to his 20th home run and drove in three runs. Jensen contributed a grand-slam homer and double, while Malzone rapped a single and triple, driving in two runs.

Eventful Sunday

The Red Sox slugging bee was just one of the many highlights of an eventful Sunday.

Kansas City pitcher Ralph Terry came within five outs of a no-hitter and Yankee pitcher Don Larsen hurled his first complete game of the season as New York made it 11 in a row over the Athletics with 2-1 and 5-1 victories.

Roy Sievers' 18th home run, his second of the day, gave Washington a 10-inning, 11-9 victory after the Chicago White Sox had rallied for four runs in the ninth to win the opener 7-6. The Sox overcame a 9-3 deficit in the second game before Sievers' second homer knocked them out of a first-place tie with the Yankees.

Series To Orioles

Baltimore won its first series from Cleveland since it returned to the American League in 1954, capturing the third game in the four-game set as Billy Loes pitched a four-hit, 12-3 triumph over the Indians.

Henry Aaron became the first major leaguer to reach 100 hits and batted his 22nd and 23rd home runs as the Milwaukee Braves swept a double-header from Pittsburgh 7-4 and 6-5. Eddie Mathews' two-run homer in the 13th won the second game and kept the Braves in first place, half a game in front of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Brooks Lawrence turned in a six-hitter for his ninth victory in Cincinnati's 6-1 triumph over Philadelphia, then came back to snuff out a Philly rally in the ninth as the Redlegs also won the second game 6-2.

1st 10-Game Winner

Ruben Gomez became the first National League pitcher to post 10 victories as the New York Giants defeated St. Louis 5-3 in the first game. The Cardinals came back to win the nightcap 7-1 behind bonus right-hander Lindy McDaniel. Stan Musial hit a three-run homer for the Cards, his 18th of the season.

Brooklyn established a record in reverse when 27 Dodgers struck out as they were held to a split of their double-header with the Chicago Cubs. After Chicago had won the opener 3-2, in 11 innings, young Danny McDevitt buried a five-hitter for his third victory, in Brooklyn's 5-1 triumph.

Willard Nixon was the beneficiary of the Red Sox slugging, winning his sixth game although he had to quit in the seventh when he suffered an old knee ailment.

4-Hitter By Larsen

A double by pinch hitter Harry Simpson ruined young Terry's revenge effort against his former Yankee teammates. The blow came with two out and two on in the eighth of the opener. Terry had retired 22 of the first 23 batters he faced when Gil McDougald doubled with one out in the eighth for the first hit off the 21-year-old right-hander.

Pinch hitter Joe Collins walked, then Simpson drove in the tying and winning runs.

Larsen, completing his first game since his brilliant World Series perfect game effort, permitted only four hits for his third victory. Mickey Mantle's run-scoring single in the first, and Yogi Berra's 11th homer in the sixth spelled defeat for rookie Jack Urban, another ex-Yankee.

Chisox Rally Wins

Larry Doby's triple, one of his six hits in the twin bill, climaxed Chicago's four-run rally in the ninth that saw the Sox overcome a 6-3 deficit. Doby also hammered two home runs and three singles. Sievers' 10th-inning homer, with Clint Courtney on base, earned Chuck Stobbs his second triumph against 12 defeats in the finale.

Baltimore clubbed loser Bob Lemon and three Cleveland relievers for 14 hits, including a home run by Gus Triandos.

Mathews' 16th home run, with a runner on base in the 13th, gave Milwaukee its sixth straight victory. The Braves won the opener with a five-run eighth that snapped a 2-2 tie.

Phils Lose Pair

Home runs by George Crowe, his 15th, Don Hoak and Pete Whisenant, featured the Reds' double win over Philadelphia.

Lawrence, who went all the way in the opener, came in with the bases full in the ninth of the second game and retired Harry Anderson on a foul to save the victory for Johnny Klippstein.

Willie Mays paced the Giants to their first game win with two triples and a double. Homers by Musial, Del Ennis and Hobie Landrith helped McDaniel to his eighth victory in the nightcap.

Ernie Banks double in the 11th drove in Bob Speake with the winning run in Chicago's first-game victory over Brooklyn. Gino Cimoli paced the Dodgers with three hits in the second game.

GAME EXPERTS STUDY HUNTING DATES, LIMITS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's game commissioners came to Harrisburg today to decide the season dates and bag limits for the commonwealth's hunters this fall.

A prime question again this year is whether there will be a special antlerless deer hunting season in addition to the annual buck hunting season. The last antlerless deer season was in 1955. Representatives of a half-dozen sportsmen's, industrial, government and farm groups urged the commission Saturday to a season for hunting antlerless deer — doe and small bucks.

Bow And Arrow

At the same time the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs urged the commission to allow bow and arrow hunters a full month to hunt deer, instead of the 19-day season allowed last year.

Earlier this year the commission fixed these tentative opening dates for the various seasons: Small game — Saturday Oct. 26; bear — Nov. 25; bow and arrow deer — Tuesday, Oct. 11; regular deer — Monday, Dec. 2; antlerless deer — Monday, Dec. 16.

The antlerless deer date was strictly tentative when the commission outlined the probable opening dates of seasons, since the commission had not decided to set a doe season pending a census of the winter carryover of the deer herd.

The small game season is the one affecting the vast majority of the state's hunters. Last year it ran from Oct. 27 through Nov. 24. However, hunting of wild turkey, grouse and squirrels was authorized a week earlier.

FOREIGN AID CUT "TOO CLOSE" FOR COMFORT: VORYS

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said Saturday the House Foreign Affairs Committee cut "too close for comfort" in voting to trim 600 million dollars from foreign aid requests.

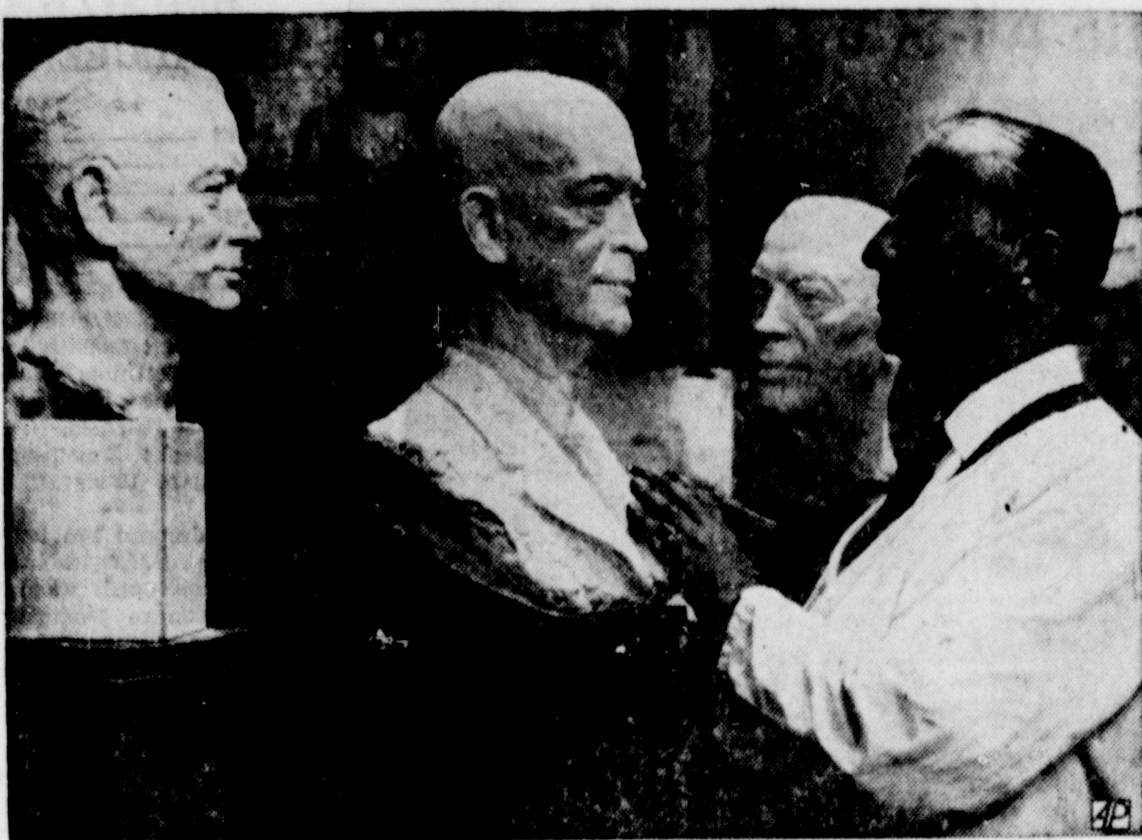

But Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) said "I don't think the present cuts will harm the program."
The committee expects to complete work Monday on President Eisenhower's request for a $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1. The cuts from that amount voted yesterday were 400 millions deeper than the Senate had gone on the same items.

Recalls Former Cut
The group pared 400 millions from the $1,900,000,000 Eisenhower asked for arms aid next year and 200 millions from the 900 millions he sought for "defense support," which is economic aid to buttress defense systems of America's allies.

The committee also turned down key portions of requested long-term aid authority which Eisenhower said should be adopted to allow sounder long-range planning for the complicated overseas assistance program.

Vorys noted in an interview that Congress last year knocked about $1,200,000,000 off the $4900,000,000 which Eisenhower sought.

But this year Vorys said, the administration came in with a request already a billion dollars lower and the 60 million dollar cutback would be relatively more serious. "It's too close for comfort, both for military aid and for defense support," he said.

What Committee Did
By way of long-term authority Eisenhower wanted permanent authorization for a military and defense support program without fixed ceilings and a three-year, two billion dollar economic development loan fund for which 500 million dollars would be provided the first year.

The committee instead:
1. Voted for a no-ceiling authorization for military aid for just one future fiscal year, starting July 1, 1958, so next year's arms aid request could be included in the regular defense budget.

2. Rejected completely an authorization for defense support beyond the coming 12-month period.
3. Approved for the loan development fund only the 500 million dollars Eisenhower asked for the first year, leaving out authority for the 1½ billions he sought for the following two years.

SCHRUNK FREED OF PERJURY BY PORTLAND JURY

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk was acquitted on Friday on a charge of perjury but he still faces a long battle to clear his name.

A State Circuit Court jury deliberated less than two hours before deciding unanimously that the 44-year-old mayor had not lied to a vice probing grand jury when he denied taking a gambler's bribe.
It is believed that the charge of bribery against Schrunk may be dropped now, but State Atty Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, who is in charge of the prosecution of Portland's vice cases, could not be reached for comment immediately.

Three other charges, stemming from the year-long vice probe of this city of 415,000, have been filed against the mayor, accusing him of illegally copying a wiretap, conspiracy to obtain a wiretap and subornation of perjury. Trial dates for these charges have not been set.

Schrunk maintains that the accusations against him are part of a plot by gamblers who feared his election as mayor would drive them out of business. Much of the testimony presented at the 10-day

False Bomb Scare Is Crime In Penna.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania has made it a crime to touch off a false bomb scare. Gov. George M. Leader signed the new law Friday.

Under its provisions, anyone perpetrating a bomb hoax will be subject to a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a fine of $1,000. It goes into effect Sept. 1. For months the state has been plagued with bomb scares.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department has concluded two days of hearings on the question whether a federal milk marketing order setting minimum prices in the Philadelphia milkshed should be retained.

A final decision will be made in Washington, where the testimony given here will be reviewed.

trial here was a repetition of that heard in Washington, D.C., last March when the Senate committee investigated what it said was labor racketeering in Portland.

Portland gambler big Jim Elkins was a star witness at the hearings and testified that another Portland gambler, Clifford O. Bennett, told him he had paid a $500 bribe to Schrunk in September 1955. Schrunk was county sheriff at the time and had raided Bennett's club. The payoff, Elkins said, was made so Schrunk would not arrest the club's patrons.

RED SKELTON TAKES ILL BOY TO SEE SIGHTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—If comedian Red Skelton has his way, his nine-year-old son, Richard, will see as many of the "wonders of the world" in the next few weeks as many people see in a full lifetime.

Richard has leukemia, a blood disease that usually is fatal.

The Skeltons are in the midst of a five-day sightseeing tour of the capital. They've already been to New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. And Skelton said they'll head later for London, Rome and perhaps other faraway places. Richard's sister, Valentina, 10, is traveling with them.

Grin Is Missing

The comedian, minus his usually broad grin, said he wants to help Richard pack a lot of experiences into a limited time. Skelton asked a newsmen:

"In what better way could I do it than show him the wonders of the world, the miracles and near-miracles, all the places he's heard of but has never seen?"

Skelton said he also hopes while in Washington to help out in the drive for cancer funds.

The Skeltons already have done much and seen much.

New England Too

In New York, they drove a train through the Grand Central yards, ran an elevator high up in the Empire State Building, climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty, visited St. Patrick's Cathedral and went to Radio City.

In Philadelphia, they stood in Independence Hall and viewed the Liberty Bell.

In New England, they boarded the Mayflower II and saw Plymouth Rock.

One Request

While in Washington, they plan to sit in on House and Senate sessions, to stop in at the White House, to prowl through the Smithsonian Institution, and to cross into nearby Virginia to see George Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Richard had one special request—to see the Washington Monument. He spoke of it as "the monument with all the steps and the little red lights on top." The lights are there as a warning to low-flying planes.

STASSEN NOT MOVED BY NEW RED PRESSURE

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen appeared unmoved today by increasing Soviet pressure to lay all his disarmament cards on the table at once. Despite the Russians' impatience, Stassen indicated he would continue to set forth the new U.S. disarmament plan bit by bit at the London meeting of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin told the five-nation group yesterday Russia would have to know the complete American plan before agreeing to the appointment of working groups to map details for an arms reduction treaty. He urged Stassen to speed up his presentation.

Slowed By Consultations

Stassen replied that it would take a number of days for him to outline the plan formulated May 25 by President Eisenhower and his top advisers. Western officials said the presentation has been slowed by the need for prolonged consultation among the Western Allies.

There also was speculation the United States was taking its time in the hope of dissipating the propaganda advantage Russia won two weeks ago with its offer to let U.N. inspectors into Soviet territory to oversee a moratorium on nuclear tests.

Stassen said the fact that agreement on a partial arms reduction treaty is now in sight after 1½ years of disagreement makes it even more vital that the subcommittee not attempt to move too fast at this stage.

Spent Over Week

Stassen has spent more than a week presenting the broad new U.S. disarmament plan. As yet he has only touched on conventional weapons, manpower levels and a control organization to enforce a disarmament treaty. Still to be presented are the U.S. proposals on some of the more controversial items, such as aerial inspection and nuclear weapons.

Britain, France and Canada—the other members of the subcommittee—expressed general approval yesterday of the U.S. plan for a disarmament control organization. But Zorin refused to commit himself.

The plan, which Stassen originally presented April 17, calls for a 14-nation board of control or which the present subcommittee members would have veto power, and an international inspection service. The board of control would be supervised by the U.N. Security Council.

The U.S. Naval Operating Base in Bermuda is situated on 225 acres of land leased on a 99-year-rent-free contract granted to the U. S. by Great Britain during World War II.

U.S. BOYCOTT OF RED CHINA MAY BE HEADING INTO TROUBLE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The American policy of boycott of Red China, which has just been reaffirmed by Secretary of State Dulles, appears to be heading into trouble.

Various pressures are building up against it both at home and abroad, and the Eisenhower administration may find it impossible to hold the line at all points in the next two or three years.

The policy restatement was made by Dulles in a speech at San Francisco Friday. It was his first major pronouncement in the United States attitude toward Communist China in three years. Officials reported that it was fully approved in advance by President Eisenhower.

Uses Strong Terms
Dulles laid down anew in strong terms the decision that this country should not recognize the peiping regime, should not engage in trade with it, should not permit cultural contacts and should not agree to any place for Red China in the United Nations.

He said that American policies are "readily adjustable" to meet changing conditions, but added, "There are occasions when others, and not we, should provide the change."

In effect, he seemed to be holding out to Red China the possibility that if it would change its ways the United States would review its attitude. Balanced against this was his assertion that the United States expects that sooner or later the Chinese people will rid themselves of Communist rule and the real intention of the United States is to wait until this has come about before opening up full relations with the mainland of China.

Domestic, Foreign Pressure
To make the policy hold firm at all points the administration will need support at home and the co-operation of friendly countries abroad. It will also need to find a solution for the problem of Red China's role in any disarmament program worked out with Russia.

The pressures which seem to be developing are both domestic and foreign. Some U.S. senators have expressed cautious concern over the effect on American commercial interests if countries like Britain and Japan began trading with Red China on a large scale than in the past and American traders are forbidden all contact.

Britain has already declared its intention to trade with Communist China on the same basis as the Allied countries, by agreement, trade with the Soviet Union and its European satellites. Japan, West Germany and other countries are expected to follow suit.

Difficulties Ahead
Another issue relates to Dulles' renewed prohibition on cultural contacts—that is travel between Red China and the United States. For months he has been under heavy criticism for not permitting American newsmen to go into Communist China.

Washington authorities also wondered since Britain scrapped the Russian-Red Chinese trade differential, how long Britain would be willing to cooperate with the United States in keeping Red China out of the United Nations.

If Britain develops its Red China trade, if the bars on trade in non-strategic goods go down generally among other countries, the line on the United Nations issue may prove far more difficult to hold.

SOLAR GEYSER STUDIED BY IGY MEETING

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists of many countries concentrated today on studying the effects of a major explosion on the sun which coincided nicely with the opening of the International Geophysical Year.

IGY is a cooperative scientific effort by 62 nations—including Russia and most of her satellites—to glean new information about the earth, its oceans, its atmosphere and the sun which strongly affects life on the planet. About 10,000 scientists are participating in the 18-month studies, opening officially today.

Practical benefits such as better weather forecasting, improved communications and navigation are hoped for as a result of the pooled research.

Solar Flare
The solar flare—a giant geyser of solar particles and radiation streaming out probably hundreds of thousands of miles from the sun's surface—reached the earth yesterday in the form of magnetic storms in the high atmosphere.

Such high-altitude storms, which sometimes disrupt radio and telegraph communications, are "as tempestuous as hurricanes" in weather disturbances," said a special bulletin from American IGY headquarters.

Radio blackouts were expected to occur in many places throughout the world before nightfall today.

Aircrafts Alert

"Aircraft and ships at sea dependent on radio navigation and communication have been alerted to take precautionary measures in view of the impending radio blackout," said the IGY announcement.

Already, the phenomenon has caused brilliant displays of the aurora—Northern and Southern lights—at high altitudes in the Northern and Southern hemispheres.

Solar flares of varying intensity occur periodically on the sun—reaching maximum intensity in 11-year cycles, as do sun spots.

In fact, the 18-month IGY was timed to conform with the peak of the current 11-year cycle of solar activity.

Actually, the flare erupted three days ago, but its effects were not noted until early yesterday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marshal Tito, the Communist boss of Yugoslavia, may in spite of himself turn out to have been the ruin of world communism.

But you'd never guess it from what he said Sunday in a televised interview with Edward R. R. Murrow.

Tito, who has received American aid since breaking with Stalin in 1948, said nothing to offend Russia and nothing to please the United States.

Neutralist Best Reds

And the line he took Sunday was part neutralist, part Russian, but always Communist. Anyone who thinks he may swing toward democracy and capitalism is playing peek-a-boo with reality.

He said Russia was right in crushing the anti-Communist Hungarian revolt last fall. Why? Reactionary elements might have won control and through the efforts of outside forces (not named) brought on World War III.

Probably his real reason for thinking the Russians right was this: If the Hungarians threw out the Communists and got away with it, his own Yugoslavs might have tried the same thing against him.

Creates Disunity

The Baghdad Pact is bad, he said, because it creates Arab disunity. The United States backs that pact, which is a defensive military alliance of countries on Russia's southern frontier.

The Arab disunity line is the same one taken by Egyptian President Nasser, who wants to run the Arab world himself. But Russia is even more vehement than Nasser in denouncing the pact.

And Tito appeared to take a dim view of President Eisenhower's Mideast program of economic and military aid for Arabs willing to climb out of Nasser's pocket. Tito never mentioned Nasser.

Some Background

When Tito made his historic break with Stalin nine years ago — shaking off Russian control to follow his own independent road to communism — he was the first satellite ruler to do so.

America gave him aid. It was not an act of love. If he could break with Moscow and survive, other satellites might be encouraged to try it.

Poland did, getting rid of some Russian domination and changing the course of communism a bit, at least in that country, by relaxing controls on both religion and the economy.

Hungary might have achieved some independence too if it hadn't tried for the grand slam by breaking with Russia and trying to throw out communism too.

State VFW Meeting Has Defense Theme

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars meet here next week for their annual encampment centered this year on the theme "defense means freedom."

Addresses by military and government notables will make "a significant contribution to national safety," said Morton Fromm, Lock Haven, state VFW commander. The VFW will hold its encampment July 11-13.

Fromm said representatives of all the nation's armed services will present the viewpoints of their organizations on national defense.

COUPLE IS WED DESPITE SUITS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A young couple was married during the weekend following a turbulent courtship in which one set of parents filed a half-million dollar damage suit against the other parents.

The marriage of Mary Lucille Werner and Leland W. T. Cummings Jr., both 21, was performed Saturday at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church in suburban Wauwatosa. Detectives were on duty to make sure, as the officers put it, "that everything was orderly."

Not among the guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland W. T. Cummings Sr. of Wyncote, Pa., a fashionable Philadelphia suburb. The senior Cummings filed the suit in circuit court here June 17, charging the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Werner, Elm Grove, Wis., had "enticed and induced the groom to run away and abandon his parents." Werner is a local industrialist.

The Cummings said the bride's parents had induced the young man to give up his Roman Catholic faith. But the groom said he no longer was a Catholic. Werner called the charges false and unfounded.

The couple met while he was attending Harvard College and she was a student at Vassar.

A wacky burlesque of life in khaki, called "At War with the Army," is the current Totem Pole Playhouse production. This is a farce-comedy about the way GIs relieved the monotony of the "waiting war" with teasing, buckpassing, goldbricking, wise-cracks and women. A Broadway hit for many months it will have a week's run at the Caledonia Park Summer theater starting today.

The pivotal role is that of an unmarried topknot who fears he is on the verge of fatherhood to be played by Howard Hanson, a newcomer to the Totem Pole company. Mr. Hanson recently toured with Victor Jory in "My Three Angels."

Brothers of the Brush concentrate on whisking off their beards at the Saturday performance of the Emmitsburg Bicentennial. Using electric razors the shavers managed to clip their faces in from three to five minutes. While the husbands felt a bit lonesome without the beards, wives appeared happy at hubby's regained respectability.

Amelia Earhart Vanished 20 Years Ago On Pacific Flight

By M. A. RAISER

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Aviator Amelia Earhart vanished over a mysterious Pacific Ocean — near tiny Howland Island — 20 years ago tomorrow.

Her disappearance was a shock and a mystery to an America which had come to love the tomboy-like character of this girl in the sky.

With the "Lady Lindy" on the scheduled round-the-world flight, was navigator Frederick J. Noonan.

Near End Of Long Hop

The daring fliers had neared the end of a 2,550-mile overwater hop from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland Island.

The first indication of trouble, a radio message at 7:42 a.m. July 2, 1937, said:

"We must be on you but cannot see you. Gas is running low. Been unable to reach you by radio."

Great Sea Search

The Coast Guard cutter Itasca, stationed near the island, tried frantically to bring Miss Earhart's twin engine plane to a safe landing. It broadcast directions, but at 8:46 a.m.—came a brief, flickering, final radio signal.

There followed one of history's greatest sea searches in the vicinity of Howland Island, 1,600 nautical miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands.

The search involved more than 3,000 men, 10 ships, 100 American planes and many Japanese navy aircraft. It cost the American government more than a million dollars.

Started At 30

No trace of the fliers or plane ever was found.

"I just fly because I want too," Miss Earhart often said in her efforts to prove planes could fly anywhere, and women could pilot them.

She took her first flying lessons at Los Angeles in 1918, when she was 20 and a student at University of Southern California. She soloed after only 10 hours instruction, and two years later went up to 14,000 feet, an altitude record for women at that time.

Made History

The first woman to cross the Atlantic by plane became a new and shy heroine.

She soloed the Atlantic in 1932, and on Jan. 11, 1935, flew from Hawaii to Oakland alone in 18 hours and 16 minutes.

She and Noonan took off quietly from Oakland on May 20, 1937, on their world flight, going first to Miami. They made history, traveling 22,000 miles before they reached New Guinea June 29.

Hopes Long Gone

The global flight was to have ended in Oakland where her husband, publisher George Palmer Putnam, awaited her.

There were rumors that the Japanese had imprisoned Miss Earhart and Noonan, perhaps because they had flown over island fortifications.

These stories persisted for many years — perhaps because people wanted to believe Miss Earhart and her navigator were still alive. But today all such hopes of survival have vanished.

Livestock Auction Rules Are Changed

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Agriculture Department has related regulations for 50 livestock auction places in Pennsylvania to allow sale of dairy and beef breeding animals on the same days as other livestock sales.

The revision affects an order issued last March restricting sales of breeding stock to days apart from days for sale of other livestock. The measure was instituted as an animal health step.

The department said that under its new order, effective immediately, dairy and beef breeding animals may be sold on the same days as other livestock. But it noted that the breeding stock must be kept in separate stables to prevent spread of disease.

Retained was a stipulation that a health chart or certificate must be furnished for each animal sold at the auctions and covered by the regulations.

Robber Checks On His Parting Orders

DETROIT (AP) — Lonnie Taylor, 25-year-old night gas station attendant, told police he was forced to hand over about $100 to a lone robber who ordered him into the men's room "to count to 100."

Taylor said he counted to 20, then came out to sound the alarm. The robber, still there, threatened to kill him. Taylor returned to the men's room to continue counting at 21.

GOP Policy Maker Wants Shapiro Out

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Republican Senate policy maker held today that Gov. Leader should drop Harry Shapiro, secretary of welfare, if the governor approves a bill merging the departments of welfare and public assistance.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R—Armstrong), assistant Senate majority leader, contended in a week-end statement that "Shapiro is not the man to direct this new department."

The governor is expected to sign legislation merging the two departments into one to be known as the Department of Public Welfare.

If approved, the measure would present the governor with the choice of removing either Shapiro or Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horling, secretary of public assistance, or removing both and getting a new Cabinet member.

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Management and union agreed they were getting nearer a settlement today in negotiations for a new wage contract in a strike-spreading situation throughout the country's cement industry.

A session here, conducted by federal mediators, between the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers and the Medusa Portland Cement Co., broke up early today without an agreement.

MUCH OF U.S. IS SHOWERY TODAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were indicated in many parts of the country today, with mild weather prevailing in most areas.

Stormy weather continued during the night in sections of Kansas and Oklahoma. Tornado and thunderstorm warnings were posted for the eastern part of south central Kansas and the eastern section of extreme north central Oklahoma.

Heavy rain and wind storms hit Kansas yesterday and a tornado was reported in the air over Liberal last night. No casualties were reported. Flash floods and strong winds battered eastern Missouri. Seven persons drowned, including a father and his five children in Ironton, Mo. The Red Cross reported 80 homes damaged or destroyed. Roads and miles of railroad track were blocked by landslides.

Ohio Marine Killed In Pike Accident

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — One Marine was killed and two others were injured, early today when their auto left the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Everett and overturned.

Norman L. King, 17, of Tiffin, Ohio, was dead on arrival at Bedford Memorial Hospital.

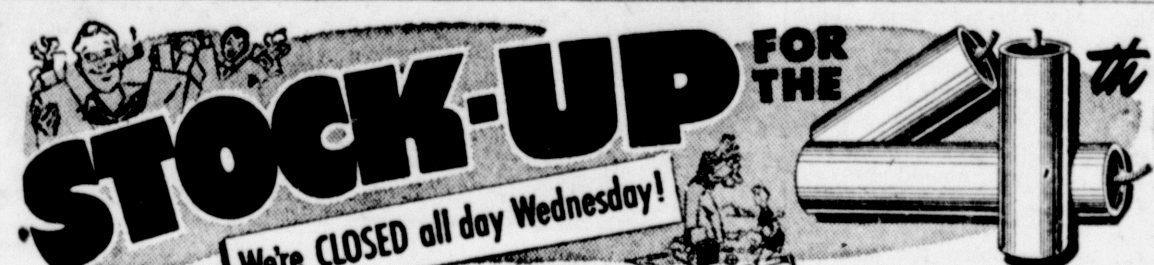

Reported in good condition are John P. Copeland, 20, of Verona, a Pittsburgh suburb, and Jack I. Roberts, 31, of Leeburg, Pa.

State police said Copeland was driving.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The General Electric Co. said today that construction of a new plant at Valley Forge, has been delayed by a big missile research project here disclosed last Saturday.

GE previously had detailed plans for a multi-million dollar research and guided missile installation on a 100-acre tract near the interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the Schuylkill Expressway.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader today fixed the week of Monday, Sept. 30 for the execution of Norman W. Moon, 30, convicted of first degree murder in the courtroom slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade, of Warren County, on Jan. 13, 1954.

TITO SAYS HIS VIEWS CLOSE TO MAO TZE-TUNG

NEW YORK (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia says his views on communism are "to a great extent identical" with those of Red China's boss Mao Tze-tung.

Tito also sees "active coexistence" as the key to peace between the West and the Communist countries.

The stocky 65-year-old Yugoslav leader was seen and heard throughout the United States yesterday in a TV interview, with Edward R. Murrow. The one-hour interview, recently filmed in Yugoslavia, was broadcast over the CBS TV and radio networks.

"Calms West's Fears"

Asked about Mao's recent speech declaring there is no simple path to communism and that "contradictions" can exist in a communist society, Tito commented: "... I'm pleased to be able to say that our views do not contradict with the views outlined by Mao Tze-tung, but on the contrary they are to a great extent identical. I think that Mao Tze-tung by this speech of his has to a certain extent calmed down the fear which has existed in the West from communism."

Tito then was asked if he thought communism was going to take on "more of a divergent nationalist character."

"It is quite true," the President replied, "that development towards socialism and communism can go along one path in the whole world, but it would be wrong to call that national communism. The development in different countries depends upon special conditions, historic and others."

This belief that communism cannot develop in the same way in all countries led Tito to break with Stalin in 1948 and set up his own independent brand of communism.

Tito and Mao's views on the development of communism are not in line with those held by Russian leaders.

The interview was filmed at Tito's villa on Vanga, one of the Brijuni Islands in the Adriatic Sea. His handsome wife appeared with him and spoke of her role as a partisan fighter in World War II. Both spoke in Serbo-Croatian for the most part. An interpreter translated for the American audience. Occasionally the couple spoke a few words of English which they understand.

"Coexistence Best"

Commenting on how best to keep peace in the world, Tito said: "I think that the best solution is coexistence. Of course, not a passive coexistence just to live one beside the other, but an active coexistence in which we should strive to solve peacefully by way of negotiation and agreement all the problems which could arise."

Tito laughed off a query as to whether he shared Soviet party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev's view that the grandchildren of the present generation of Americans will be living under socialism. Khrushchev made the statement in a similar CBS-TV interview broadcast June 2.

"Up To America"

"I would not say categorically that your grandsons would live under socialism," replied Tito. "It is up to the American people to decide what system it would develop and what system it would prefer."

While saying "there is some difference" between communism in Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union, Tito emphasized that "these are not big, ideological differences."

"We have the same aim, that is to say, the building of socialism and communism," Tito said.

HOPE HAS TOLD "MILLIONS" OF JOKES IN 25 YRS.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Hope, the comedian's Cynosure, believes he probably has told more jokes than any other man in history.

He's been skipping them out past his ski-slope nose at the rate of better than 10,000 a year for the last quarter century.

"I figure I've told at least a quarter million jokes," he said, "and if you count repeat jokes, that is jokes told over and over to different audiences while on tour, the number would go into the millions."

"I doubt if anyone else has told more," he said, adding with a grin, "Who else has had the chance?"

When you look over the field, the candidates are few. Can any other gag man match his combined experience in vaudeville, radio and television, movies—50—and on tour? He still travels 25,000 to 50,000 miles annually, and in a two-year period, during World War II he racked up 450,000 miles entertaining U.S. service men.

PITZER TRAILER HIT BY TRAIN

The combination of a railroad crossing signal failure and a blizzard on the Lincoln highway, just west of West York,

The trailer, loaded with water-florida to York, was driven by Glen Fritz, 26, of Mechanicsburg, and is the property of H. Earl Pitzer Inc., of Biglerville.

Elmer Kopp, 53, Hanover, was the engineer of the Western Maryland train. The crossing signal lights were not working, and the brakeman, Glen Rohrbach, 18, of Spring Grove, tried to flag down traffic approaching the crossing.

Fritz said the brakes of his vehicle failed although he had had no trouble on the trip northward. The train's engine struck the trailer in the middle, causing an estimated total damage of about $1,000.

The accident was investigated by State Troopers Paul Peizer and Alexander Remchak.

ADENAUER OK'S INSPECTION OF WEST GERMANY

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Denying that his government is obstructing a big-power disarmament agreement, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer gave unqualified endorsement yesterday to U.S. Russian inspection of West Germany's defenses.

Adenauer spelled out his stand in an address to 30,000 persons here at the opening of his Christian Democratic party's campaign for the September general elections.

The Chancellor rejected suggestions his government had been hindering conclusion of an agreement at the London conference of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

"I declare expressly that we are ready to give every possible support to controlled disarmament in the fields of atomic and conventional weapons," he said. "We are prepared," he added, "to agree to the inspection of German territory."

Some sources have suggested that Adenauer's regime had been hindering conclusion of an arms pact for fear an inspection zone across Europe might harden the line dividing Germany.

"We have not been obstructive on the question of an inspection zone of European territories," he said.

Agreed in May
He said that during his visit to Washington in May, he had given complete approval when Secretary of State Dulles outlined details of the American disarmament proposals now being discussed by stages.

U. S. arms expert Harold E. Stassen briefed the NATO Allies in Paris over the weekend on the latest phase of the U.S. proposals in advance of presentation to the Soviet Union.

NATO sources said a new formula is being worked out to quiet any German fears about permanent division of the country. Under this plan, the entire aerial inspection area in both Russia and the West would be treated as one entity with no line bisecting Germany.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Defending champion Gil Rothrock, New Cumberland, today held a semifinal berth in the Pennsylvania clay court tennis championships, to be played out next weekend.

Also winning semifinal posts in the first round of the competition: Jim Whitmoyer, Philadelphia; Jim Whitmoyer, Philadelphia; and Howe Atwater, Lancaster.

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—A. P. McCloskey, of Lock Haven, today held the all-gauge title of the Pennsylvania skeet championships here today after defeating W. M. Hollinger, Harrisburg, in a 75-bird shoot-off.

In the regular competition yesterday McCloskey and Hollinger tied at 98. In the first two sets of 25 birds in the shoot-off, each missed one in each group. In the final 25, McCloskey hit 25 straight, while Hollinger missed three.

HOUSE SESSION SET ON FUNDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government started its new financial year today with some of its larger agencies not yet financed by Congress.

To cope with the situation, the House Appropriations Committee called an emergency session. It planned to send to the House for action later today a stop-gap resolution providing temporary funds for agencies whose annual money bills haven't cleared Congress.

In the technically "broke" group are the Defense Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley authority and the International Cooperation Administration, which handles the foreign aid program, plus several smaller agencies. Awaiting final Senate action today also are House-Senate committee agreements on the Agriculture and Interior Department money bills.

Actually, the agencies have enough money to tide them over until Congress acts, provided it doesn't delay too long. The emergency resolution generally will allow the unfunded agencies to continue spending at current levels until their appropriation bills become law.

ARMY PERMITS GIRARD TO WED MISS SUEYAMA

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Army today granted Specialist William Girard permission to marry his Japanese fiancée. The young soldier tentatively set Friday as the date for the wedding.

Final approval was granted by 1st Cavalry Division Headquarters, said Maj. Stanley Levin, legal adviser to the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier.

"We're tentatively setting the ceremony for 7 o'clock Friday, Levin said. "Girard is quite happy about it."

Girard and Miss Haru (Candy) Sueyama will wed in the white claspboard chapel at Camp Whittington, 40 miles north of Tokyo, where Girard is under Army restriction.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected to rule this month whether the Army can hand Girard over for Japanese trial for the Jan. 30 fatal shooting of a woman scrap metal collector on a U.S. firing range.

The marriage has yet to be cleared by Japanese officials. American servicemen marrying in Japan are required to register the marriage with Japanese town officials and then have the papers witnessed by the U.S. consul.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Miss Jane Martin, an Oakmont girl who was felled by polio five years ago, returned the State Women's Amateur Golf title to Western Pennsylvania this weekend for the first time since 1941.

Miss Martin edged Mrs. J. Albert Hayes of Philadelphia 1 up in the 36-hole final at the Pittsburgh Field Club Saturday. It was a nip and tuck match all the way.

lap Class A motorcycle race on the nearby half-mile Williams Grove speedway. Second place was taken by Neal Gravener, Apollo.

STOCKS IRREGULAR showed fractional gains or losses. NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregular in slow early trading today. Most pivotal issues showed fractional gains or losses. Some specialties ran ahead. Among more prominent issues, Chrysler did about the best, advancing a point or so in fairly active trading. Avco was active and up a fraction. Steel showed little change following last week's price increases. Little movement was shown among other leading motors. Leading rail shares were unchanged or easy. Utilities, chemicals and aircrafts were mixed.

HOLDING MAN IN WIFE'S MURDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia police said today they are holding a 72-year-old man in connection with the murder of his wife in Atlantic City last night.

They identified him as Max Green of Philadelphia and said he is being held on a fugitive warrant.

Atlantic City police said the woman, Ruth Green, 55, was found 200 feet from the boardwalk on Calloway Place between Massachusetts and Connecticut. A blood-stained 10-inch switchblade knife lay about 10 feet from the body.

Police said residents nearby reported hearing a woman's screams about the time the stabbing is believed to have taken place. They reported a witness saying he saw a gray-haired man wearing glasses run from the scene toward the boardwalk.

Fourth Of July May Kill 535

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents may kill 535 Americans during the long Independence Day holiday, the National Safety Council said today. The 102-hour period runs from 5 p.m. local time Wednesday to midnight Sunday. Many Americans had a holiday weekend of corresponding length starting with this year's Memorial Day. During that period 413 motor vehicle deaths were reported. That would be a new high for the Independence Day holiday. The record is 491, established during a four-day period in 1950.

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Leader says the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure's standards are in conflict with those of sister states and he hopes the net legislature will correct the situation.

The governor said there are "certain inequities" in the Pennsylvania standards that work against foreign-educated physicians. He spoke Saturday before the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, Order of the Sons of Italy.

oil churches were packed yesterday as refugees joined townfolk in thanksgiving for the living and honoring the dead.
